Gianakopulos Wins Three Mile Run-Irish Capture Relay Race.

When there was a lull in proceedings such as dropping from a bailoon, drills by mounted police and boy scouts, vandeville acts and terpsichorean feats by Mile. Cleopatra's troupe of trained Salome dancers, athletes from the metropolitan district competed in a set of games yesterday at the Staten island Fair at Dongan Hills, Staten Island. There was a goodly sized crowd out, but the athletes came in for very little of the limelight on account of piled crowd out, but the athletes came in for very little of the limelight on account of the many other things which diverted the attention of the speciators from them. Nick Gianakopulos of Yonkers, running unattached, took the three mile handicap run, the feature event of the games, from a large field, helped materially by a start of 110 yards. His time was 15 minutes 12 4-5 seconds. The scratch men. Tom Barden and John Eke, both of the Irish American A. C., never had a chance on the slow, dusty track, so liberal were the allowances given others. Hugh Honohan of the New York A. C., with 125 yards, was second, about forty feet back of the winner, while A. Rosander of the Morningside A. C., with 150 yards, was a good third.

After the start of the distance run, a parachute artist made a balloon ascen-sion. So interested were the spectators sion. So interested were the specialors in watching the big gas bag rise and the man drop from it that they lost track of the foot race. As a result, the prize winners were unnoticed, as they crossed the finish line, while O. S. Weeks, 47 years old, who was almost a half mile behind, passed the grand stand and received a great ovation. There is some doubt as great ovation. There is some doubt as to whether the spectators thought Weeks was winning, all alone, or whether they were cheering him for his pluck in carry-ing a full sized set of whiskers in a three mile run.

The Irish American Club quartet of A.
